Theatre: "A trip to London"

Finishing breakfast at a café…

American 1: I'm so excited to be here!

American 2: Me too! I've always wanted to come to London!

American 3: What should we do first?

American 4: Let's pay for breakfast and do some sightseeing!

ALL: Yeah! (they nod at eachother)

American 1: Excuse me! Check please!

British Waiter: Sorry sir? Check?

American 2: Yes, check please?

British Waiter: What would you like me to check for you?

American 3: No no! We want the check to pay please!

British Waiter: The check to..oh! You mean the bill! Coming right up!

American 4: They call it a bill? This is going to be a long day!

On the street…

American 1*:* (holding the map) So line 2 takes us straight to the Big Ben.

American 2: Great! All we have to do now is find the subway entrance.

American 3: There a none around here (looking around)

American 4: Wait, I'll ask for help…..Excuse me!

British Pedestrian: Yes? How can I help you?

American 4: Can you please tell us where the closest subway is?

British Pedestrian: Sorry! I'm afraid I don't know what that is?

American 1: Maybe s/he's never seen one before! (whispers to friends)

American 2: Don't be dumb! Ofcourse s/he has!

American 3: You know.. the train that goes under the ground?

British Pedestrian: Oh! You mean the tube! It's right across the street (Walks away)

American 4: Tube? That could be anything! Let's go guys!

After a few hours…

American 1*:* Ok! I think I've had enough of London!

American 2: Yeah! I need a rest! My feet are killing me!

American 3: And I'm getting a headache…can we go to a pharmacy?

American 4: Sure! Let me just ask someone for help..

American 1*:* This will be interesting…

American 4: Excuse me…?

British Friend 1: Yes?

British Friend 2: Hello!

American 4: Hi, we're looking for a pharmacy? You probably don't know what that is.

British Friend 1: Hey! you're not from around here! You're American!

American 1: Well*,* How did you guess! (Sarcastic)

British Friend 2: What you want is a chemist. There's one right around the corner.

American 2: Finally someone who understands us!

British Friend 1: Of course! We love America and Americans!

British Friend 2: Yes! We lived in New York for a year!

American 3: And how did you do it?

British Friend 1: What do you mean?

American 4: No one understands us here! I can't believe we speak the same language!

British Friend 2: Ah yes! it's tricky isn't it? There are lots of different words!

British Friend 1: But you'll get used to it!

American 1: I don't know about that… we're pretty tired already!

British Friend 2: Nothing a beer can't solve I'm sure!

AMERICANS: Yeah!

American 2: That sounds great!

British Friend 1: Excellent! Come on, the pub is this way!

AMERICANS: The what?

British Friend 2: Oh dear! hahaha!